BEAUTY IN BRIEF

CHRISTMAS Special

The gift of beauty

PART 1

What else can be better than the gift of beauty? We round up some of the best products of 2014 - no more Christmas shopping worries!

My favourite season is coming - all the log cakes, gingerbread houses, gifts and lights. Nothing makes bidding a year farewell better than the festivities of Christmas. My only lament is that, this year, I am the designated Santa Claus for the girls. Believe me, this guide is handy even for me!

ETUDE HOUSE

Etude House Introduces its sweetest collection yet - say aw to the 'Princess Happy Ending' series! Kudos to the book inspired packaging.

Modelled after different princesses, each set comes with its trademark colour. Snow White helms red, Sleeping Beauty brandishes pink and Cinderella charms in blue.

My pick has to be the Snow White series. I am an ardent fan of the colour red, and have you seen how adorable the lipstick and nail polish colours are? Move over 'pretty in pink', I am going for 'raunchy in red'!

AUTOMATIC BEAUTY

Parallel double eyelids have been in trend for a while as they create the illusion of wider eyes. The eye tapes of Automatic Beauty have drawn rave reviews since their entrance to the market. Most of it is credited to how natural it looks and how there's a shape for every eye.

My cousin swears by eye tapes, stating that eye tapes make living with single eyelids more bearable. Imagine my delight when I saw this - one gift down, the rest to go!

NATURAL
Two products come to mind upon the mention of Natural - their signature Anti-Sensitive Cleansing Milk and their Pure Natural Plant Extract. Made to provide optimal nourishing the Pure Natural Plant Extract is concentrated and tailored for age spots.

The Pure Natural Plant Extract is the closest solution-in-a-bottle I can find so far and it is looking effective! My grandma is hyper-conscious about the age spots on her face and her arms. This could be her skin's saviour!

GABTREE & EVELYN

What do you get for the beauty guru who has it all? Well, I learnt that no woman says no to a travel kit. Don't you agree that they are like little bundles of surprises?

From the dainty body lotion bottles to the handy nail buffer, this set looks mighty convenient. It smells great too! This is the perfect gift for my aunt. She is a world-class expert on all things about beauty and I doubt I can impress her but this is worth a shot - how often do you get a range of lavender tinted products?

THE BODY SHOP

The Body Shop has dazzled me year after year with its extensive range of Christmas goodies. The newest collection, Glazed Apple, is set to steal the limelight this year. Choose from the hand cream, body lotion, body scrub and perfume - you would smell yummy!

This is the perfect gift for my best friend. How better to be cheesy than saying, "Guess who's the apple of my eye" as I hand her the Glazed Apple set? Side note, you probably have better lines so go with yours and ignore mine!
